Billionaires For Bush's War Say...

WHO NEEDS AN EXIT STRATEGY? WE'VE GOT A PROFIT STRATEGY!

With profits up 284% at Halliburton, this war is WAY too good to stop now.

Still not convinced? Let's think about all the other ways the Iraq War is great for the corporate elite:

$ To the Victor Go the Spoils!

Halliburton subsidiary Kellogg Brown and Root flat out LOST $1.8 Billion taxpayer dollars in Iraq, but that didn't stop the US Army from awarding them an additional $70 Million in "award" fees. Don't know what "award" fees are? Neither do we, but we'll take 'em!

$ Protect Our Contractors!

Have no fear, AECOM, General Electric, Raytheon, Exxon-Mobil, ConocoPhillips: George W. Bush has the whole military out there to safeguard your profits. Remember how they rushed to protect Iraq's oil wells at the start of the war, while museums and hospitals were looted? Our private contractors even have the contractual right to withhold services if they deem conditions too dangerous. It is a war zone, after all...but whether we deliver those meals or not, we get paid anyway!

$ PERMA-WAR

This whole War on Terror thing is just what we've been looking for: a never-ending profit generator! As George W. Bush puts future generations of Americans further into hoc to pay for our massive no-bid military contracts, we have to keep 'em scared so they keep their wallets open and their mouths shut. In the quest for infinite profits, every penny counts. Thanks, kids.

$ Old Enough for Fractions? You're Old Enough for the Army!

Billionaires for Bush's War wholeheartedly support sending recruiters into public schools. (As long as they stay in poor neighborhoods—Leave Choate Alone!) Sixth grade seems like a great year to start training for the dangerous job of defending our bottom line. And excuse us, but has anyone else noticed the thousands of Gulf Coast refugees just sitting around in shelters? Why not send them to fight in Baghdad?

$ National Guard, Get Back On Track!

...Out of New Orleans, and into Iraq! Sure, 35% of Louisiana's National Guard is currently serving in Iraq, along with dozens of their high-water vehicles—you never know when a flood will strike Basra! And maybe their absence did slow down disaster relief in the wake of Katrina...but a back-door draft is easier than a real draft any day.

Who are we?

Billionaires For Bush is a grassroots network of corporate lobbyists, Halliburton CEO's, decadent heiresses, and other winners under George W. Bush's economic policies. Faced with growing opposition to OUR President's (extremely lucrative!) war in Iraq, we have rallied behind him as BILLIONAIRES FOR BUSH'S WAR.

IT'S MORE TRUE TODAY THAN EVER: NEVER BEFORE HAS ONE MAN DONE SO MUCH FOR SO FEW AT THE EXPENSE OF EVERYBODY ELSE.

Who are we really?

Billionaires for Bush is a national grassroots media campaign using humor, street theatre and creative media to expose policies that favor the corporate elite at the expense of everyday Americans.

How you can get involved...

Join a chapter. Or start your own. Or get involved with one of our creative projects. It's easy and it's fun. Everything you need is on our fun-filled website: www.BillionairesForBush.com

What Do Billionaires Do in the Off-Season?

From auctioning off Social Security on eBay, to defending Karl Rove (NOT a traitor!), to calling for Limo Lanes, not Bike Lanes (bicycling is a gateway drug to environmentalism), we Billionaires have not sat idly by since the second term of our "investment" began. As the 2006 Mid-Term Elections approach, we'll be shining our diamond-studded spotlight on economic injustice and the corporate cronyism of the Bush Administration.
