Invitation & Introduction

Congratulations! You have demonstrated remarkably good taste and judgment by deciding to read this manual. Billionaires could use more sensible people like you, to help us counterbalance the over-wrought concerns that are spoon-fed to voters about tax fairness, clean elections, global justice, and environmental protection. Intelligent Billionaires recognize that attacks on President Bush aim to deprive us of our comfortable lifestyles and undo the structures that enable the accumulation of our enormous wealth. Americans of Means who benefit most from the Bush Administration would do well to join Billionaires for Bush, and help us protect our healthy financial returns on that most lucrative investment opportunity: the Presidency.

First of all, please remember that Billionaires for Bush is an exclusive club. After all these years of tightly controlling the Presidency, we have serious concerns about our decision to recruit more Billionaires to join our ranks. However our natural instinct for preservation of the species (more and more wealth is being concentrated in the hands of fewer and fewer people!) won out over our cultural elitism, and we have decided that as long as you stand for what we stand for, then we welcome you to consider yourself a Billionaire, a mogul among moguls.

As the November 2, 2004, general election approaches, it is our hope that Billionaires everywhere will stand behind President Bush, and celebrate – in public – all he has done for the topmost 1% at the expense of everyone else. We must step outside the boardrooms, health spas, and offshore “tax havens” and start talking with the public. Billionaires for Bush (B4B) chapters have blossomed nationwide. Presidential campaign visits are met with enthusiastic crowds of Billionaires for Bush. Billionaires from Scranton to Spokane, and Tallahassee to Toledo, have flocked together to demonstrate gratitude for everything our Commander in Chief has done for the ruling class.

We do hope you will become a Billionaire for Bush.

To find out if there is a chapter near you, visit <http://www.billionairesforbush.com/blog/chapters>. To start a new chapter, please contact chapters@billionairesforbush.com. We're especially interested in forming chapters in these battleground states: OH, FL, PA, MI, WI, MN, IA, MO, AK, TN, WV, NV, NM, AZ, CO, WA, OR, NH, and ME.

If you have any questions, please contact chapters@billionairesforbush.com.

Campaign Overview

Seriously though... What is Billionaires for Bush?

Who are we really?

Billionaires for Bush is a grassroots media campaign that is changing voters' minds in swing districts. We're using humor, street theater, and creative media to show how the Bush administration has favored the corporate elite at the expense of everyday Americans. We've been recognized by major media including The New York Times, USA Today, CNN, CBS News, The Akron Beacon Journal, Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, etc. for bringing a unique brand of political activism to the 2004 elections.

Why.

If you were a billionaire looking narrowly after your own self-interest, you'd be behind George Bush 110%. Bush's policies have been a boon for billionaires, and a disaster for ordinary Americans. In the last four years, Bush has presided over a net loss of 2 million jobs, he's passed three tax cuts for millionaires which have mortgaged the futures of America's children, he's invited Enron lobbyists in the front door of the White House to write the nation's energy policies, and he's cut (!) combat pay to the young men and women who he has asked to fight and die in Iraq while helping politically-connected companies like Halliburton make off with tens of billions in lucrative military & reconstruction contracts (who then overcharge on top of that!)

Maybe that's why, of the nation's 277 billionaires, 122 of them have given handsomely to Bush while only 37 have sent money to Kerry.

In spite of this, Bush's media team has managed to construct him as a folksy everyday guy whose tax cuts are good for all Americans. It is this image that the Billionaires campaign is aiming to upend.

What we do.

Our field campaign is now 75+ chapters and growing. We're bird-dogging Bush and Cheney around the country. Soon they won't be able to make a speech or hold a fundraising dinner without finding themselves sharing the spotlight with a contingent of Billionaires in tuxedos and evening gowns, thanking them for being the best politicians Big Money can buy. (After all, why rent when you can own?)

Billionaires for Bush has proven its ability to generate free media packed with critical, issue-focused messages. The campaign has been remarkably effective on a relatively small budget.

2004 Campaign Components:

- $ "Thank You Rallies" at Bush appearances nationwide.
- $ "Get On the Limo" Swing State Tour through Midwest battleground states.
- $ "Million Billionaire March" at the Republican National Convention.
- $ Do-It-Yourself Kits — downloadable from the website, with all the materials activists need to start their own chapters and carry out actions in their own communities.
- $ Humorous radio ads and TV spots for placement in swing-state local media.

Accomplishments:

- $ National network of over 75 chapters.
- $ Featured on CBS, ABC, CNN, NPR, NightLine, New York Times, Boston Globe, MSNBC.com, as well as the Akron Beacon Journal and Concord Monitor.

- $ Award-winning TV spot, "Leave No Billionaire Behind" one of the 15 finalists in MoveOn.org's Bush-In-30-Seconds contest.
- $ Two CD's with over 20 original songs and accompanying music videos.
- $ High-profile actions : media hi-jinks at Karl Rove fundraiser; "Cheney is Innocent" vigils
- $ Successful 20-city-plus national days of action: "Thank You of Paying Our Fair Share" on Tax Day; "Widen the Healthcare Gap" with SEIU on June 19.
- $ Billionaire appearances: "disruption" of Arianna Huffington speech at Take Back America conference in DC, June 3-5; performance at AFSCME biennial convention, Anaheim, June 24-25.

With so much is at stake, we cannot afford a business-as-usual approach. As Clyde Haberman points out:

"Billionaires for Bush are proof that street theater and satire are not dead... That it is possible to make a political point and draw a smile at the same time, indeed a smile may deliver the message far more effectively than a shout."

— The New York Times

Please join the campaign, by lending your voice, your talent, your energy, your financial support. Thank you.

The Fine Print

In 2003, Billionaires for Bush incorporated as Billionaires, Inc., a non-profit, non-partisan corporation, organized under Section 527 of the I.R.S. tax code. Contributions to Billionaires, Inc. are not tax-deductible as charitable contributions and are part of the public record. There is no limit on the amount an individual can contribute to Billionaires, Inc. Billionaires, Inc. will not accept contributions from candidates or candidate committees.

Creation of this Do It Yourself Manual is paid for by Billionaires, Inc., and is not authorized by any candidate or candidate's committee.

By participating in the Billionaires for Bush campaign, you are challenging President Bush's administration and exposing its failed policies. However, in your capacity as a Billionaire you should not be advocating or dissuading voters from voting for or against any candidate. These are the legal requirements of the 527 PAC. Everything else is fair game!

I. Becoming a Billionaire

To become a Billionaire, we ask only that you follow the simple instructions below on how to choose a name, dress the part, and adopt a Billionaire persona. Once you have completed these preliminaries, you and other like-minded Billionaires are ready to form your own local chapter of Billionaires for Bush.

Choosing a Name

As a billionaire, you must make a good name for yourself (or at least borrow one from your parents). Here are some famous Billionaire names from around the country:

Anita Subsidy	Lucinda Regulations
Ava Rice	Luke Rahtive
Barbara Kruger-Rand	Mary A. Richman
Bill Fold	Mary Ritch
Bill M. Moore	Meg A. Bux
Billie O'Nair	Millie O'Nair
Bjorn Ritch	Miss Aisles
Cassius King	Miya Cash
Claire Channel	Mona Terri Gaines
D. Forestation	Mona Polist
Dee Regulation	Monty Moneybucks
Dick Tator	N. Heritance
Doll R.	N. Ron Graft
Erna Bigcheque	N. V. Mee
Frida Market	Olive Oilfields
Gimmi Moore	Ollie Garky
Goldie Sachs	Owen Dwight Howse
Hallie Burton / Hal E. Burton	Pam Perd
Howe Rich Aryieux	Phil T. Rich
Ike Horner de Marquette	Phil T. Lucre
I. M. Loaded	Philip Mepockitz
Ilene Far-Wright	Pluto Cratt
Ima Weltier	Richard Enyou
Iona Bigga Yacht	Reed Dickless Lee Rich III
Iona Lott	Robert Baron
Iona Senator	Robin U. Blind
Ivan S. Tate	Seymour Benjamins
Ivana Censorhugh	Scott A. Fullpocket
Joe Highness	Silvia Spoon
John Dough	Sir Plus Value, Knight of the British Empire
K. Ching	Sue Ann Winn
Leah Jet	Swellington Von Rulingclassford
Les A. Faire	Warren Proffitt
Liv B. Hind-Gates	William (Willy) B. Uppercrust
Lord Amplecapital	Xena Phobe
Lotta Mula	Z. Roe Compassion
Lou Pole

If you have an enviable name that is not on the list above, email names@billionairesforbush.com to let us know!

Suitable Attire

Appearances are everything. Formal dress is required.

In order to be a billionaire, it is not merely important to sport the right attitude, but to sport the right suit as well. We really must insist that you dress the part — we do have an image to uphold. It has occasionally come to our attention that some Billionaires have tried to gather in casual garb, and to those deviant individualists, we have only this to say: Formal is Normal.

We know that there is a great wealth of diversity among the extremely rich — and therefore among our fashion choices as well. Billionaires come in all colors, shapes and sizes. We have old money and oil money and dot-com money and money at work and money on vacation and daytime money and evening money.

But as important as it is to honor the diversity of our ranks, it is even more important to preserve the traditional image of the Billionaire in America.

Visual unity is very important to us. Remember, it takes conformity, not individuality, to become a Billionaire for Bush.

So don your black suits and evening gowns, and hit the streets!

For men, suit-able attire includes:

- $ black tux or suit
- $ white shirt
- $ money tie
- $ bowtie
- $ bowler hat
- $ cigar
- $ monocle
- $ white gloves
- $ cummerbund
- $ suspenders
- $ cane

For women:

- $ furs
- $ diamonds
- $ pearls
- $ fancy scarf
- $ opera gloves
- $ gown
- $ heels
- $ cigarette holder
- $ tiara

You may also come with your full entourage. Servants, footmen, butlers, limos, security detail, red carpets, etc. are all welcome.

Billionaires who simply must stand out, even amidst the enormously affluent, may find the following fashion ideas appealing:

Bratty Equestrian

equestrian-type hat
jacket
jodhpurs (equestrian pants) or leggings fancy high boots
riding crop
flashy jewelry
attitude
stuffed pony

Billionaire Record Executive

fancy suit or super-expensive jogging outfit
flashy jewelry
cell phone permanently attached to ear blackberry device or pda eye candy girlfriend/boyfriend briefcase full of record contracts that screw the artist

A Columbian Cartel Boss

slinky slithery pants
silky shirt
see-through socks
endangered-animal skin shoes
gold chains
chunky shades
jewelry with tiny spoons

Rock Star or Rapper

finery
leather pants
engineer boots
shiny shirt
fur coat
diamond earrings
gold money pendant

Deposed European Royalty

fluffy shirt with cuffs shiny brocaded smoking jacket velvet pants
jeweled slippers
turban

Hunting Lodger

hunting boots
solid-colored thick wool pants
nubby earth-toned sweater plaid jackets with the rifle-shot protector shoulder pad hunting cap

Your Persona & Portfolio

As Billionaires, our names evoke fabulous fortunes and we dress like a billion bucks. But there's a story behind every fortune, and communicating it well will better enable you to effectively manipulate the hearts and minds of the American public. Just take a peek at the biographies of a few of our top officers — who wouldn't be moved?

Phil T. Rich

Chief Executive Officer and Schmoozer-In-Chief, B4B

Phil was born a poor Mexican, but like those who feel as though they were born in the wrong body and long for a sex-change operation, Phil always new the maternity nurse had mixed up the socio-economic strata at birth. Not one to pout, however, he quickly set about to reclaim his lost heritage. A cleverly faked ID got him into Andover, identity theft landed him at Yale and then Princeton. After being tapped for the secret Skull and Bones secret society (psst, it's a secret), and apprenticing to both Karl Rove and Kenneth Lay, he quickly rose up through the ranks of hard-right Republican organs of power and America's most dynamic corporations. His resume—Special Attaché for Accounting at Enron, Executive Secretary of the Project for a New American Century, trusted Note Taker of Vice-President Cheney's Energy Committee, and, of course, Co-Chair of Billionaires for Bush—read like a cocktail of forward thinking governance. Phil's main goal in life is now Full Spectrum Dominance over American politics. His varied interests include Money, Wealth, Lucre, Cash, and Money. He is also a board member of Halliburton.

Seymour Benjamins

Chief Operating Officer and Webmaster, B4B

Seymour Benjamins was born on January 20, 1981 — the date of Ronald Reagan's first inauguration, he is quick to note — in Bel Air, CA. Seymour was the only child of Manny Benjamins III, a California aerospace/defense mogul who discovered that there's even more profit to be made in cold wars than in hot ones, and Mary A. Mogul II, a descendant of Austrian royalty. The young Benjamins graduated from Philips Exeter Academy in 1999 and earned a master's degree in Economics from Harvard in 2003. During his junior year in college, Benjamins' father died abruptly, leaving him a fortune estimated at $1.7 billion, whereupon he instantly became the most powerful 21-year old in America. Since graduating, Benjamins has invested billions in defense, natural gas, and pharmaceuticals, as well as key elected officials. He briefly worked on the Terrorism Futures Market under John M. Poindexter at the Pentagon's Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency (DARPA). In addition to sitting on Halliburton's board, Benjamins holds positions at DynCorp, Goldman Sachs, Kissinger & Associates, and the American Enterprise Institute. He is a sailing enthusiast and frequents the New York Yacht Club.

II. Creating a Chapter

To be effective, we must band together with other Billionaires in our own geographic area. This gives us the illusion of believing in democracy and political participation.

Start Small, then Grow

A robust Billionaire Chapter will have at least ten active Billionaires, but you can get started with as few as two. Even with just one or two Billionaires you can initiate simple activities, like postering or petitioning. Use actions and social events (see “Organizing Billionaire Actions” below) to cultivate a larger cohort of active Billionaires. Once you have assembled a group of five to ten committed Billionaires, you can prepare for bigger public actions.

Below are some tips on ways to find Billionaires and keep them engaged:

- $ Start with your friends, then reach out to friends of friends, contacts, and sympathizers
- $ Attract folks by hosting social activities (Croquet, Billionaire Ball, high tea, etc.)
- $ Make new Billionaires feel welcome at meetings by acknowledging and introducing them
- $ Encourage all new Billionaires to choose a Billionaire name, and help them to do so
- $ Offer a variety of ways for new people to get involved, and try to make sure they have identified a way to “plug in” before they leave their first meeting/gathering
- $ Share responsibility and information generously. This will increase commitment.
- $ Remember names (Billionaire or original names, either works) - this is important!
- $ Generate turnout for meetings and events with e-mail and follow-up phone calls
- $ Emphasize minor successes; congratulate everyone involved
- $ Refer new Billionaires to our web site for tips on proper attire and messaging.

Go Public with a Strong Image

It is difficult for many of us to admit publicly that we are extremely wealthy. It can make us feel vulnerable — worried that people will approach us to ask for money, or scorn us because we have more than they do, or merely subject us to undue scrutiny. Nonetheless, Billionaires for Bush must make public appearances — as Billionaires — if we want to maintain the status quo. Billionaires should always come dressed appropriately. Wearing suitable attire is a fundamental element of how we communicate. Exceptions are rare, limited to when a Billionaire wants to be able to mix in undetected with non-Billionaires, as with Guerrilla Q&A (see “Joining Bush-Friendly Events” below).

Remember, image is everything! We want to be taken seriously by the media, by other wealthy people, and even by the unwashed public. We convey our image through our elegant attire, our signs and props. Home made signs are not up to snuff. We’ve included several enlargeable signs in this kit and there’s more on the web site. Black on white in clear block letters is the easiest to read from the greatest distance. Of course, a little gold embossment around the edges provides a tasteful je ne sais quoi. And no chapter is complete without an official B4B banner, available for purchase in our online store.

Visual unity is important. Remember, we make a bigger and more powerful impression (and we are about power) when we appear unified and dignified. For tips on what to wear, please review the section on suit-able attire. If you choose to counter-demonstrate at another group’s action, be sure to stay together as a group, remaining distinct and separate from non-Billionaires. Our impact is lessened when ordinary protesters, all ratty in blue jeans and backpacks, try to mingle with our evening-gowned ladies and tuxedoed gentlemen.

Know the Issues

To start, you will need to openly acknowledge what issues you care most deeply about. Traditionally the Billionaires for Bush are most interested in buying political power and tightening the grip of corporate control across the world. For descriptions of several issues we care about and how to present them effectively, see "Spinning the Issues" below.

Appoint Officers

As with any well-run corporation, effective Billionaire chapters will have designated roles and responsibilities to help ensure the completion of important tasks.

Below are some suggested official titles and their corresponding roles.

Minister of Information	Maintains database or list of Billionaire contact information (phones, e-mail) and sends notice of upcoming meetings and actions. Responsible for collecting contact info of new Billionaires when they first join a meeting.
Minister of Surveillance	Ensures actions are recorded by videographer.
Official Portraitureist	Ensures actions are photographed, uploads photos to B4B web site.
Local (Media) Mogul	Distributes media advisories and press releases, follows-up after action, cultivates press relations, develops and maintains media contact list.
Master of Ceremonies	Overall organizer for a particular action, bottom-lines the event and makes sure key elements (press, leaflets, outreach, site visit, permits, coordination with other groups, etc.) are covered and coordinated. A handy action leader checklist is in the Sample Materials section.
Minister of Love	Schedules and organizes regular social events to maintain group cohesion and identity. Welcomes, orients and introduces newcomers at meetings and events, helps them identify best way to get involved.
Special Ops Minister	Obtains information on Bush-friendly events by getting on list-serves, befriending Republican insiders or staffers by playing young Republican (clean-cut high school or college students are ideal for this role), and shares this info with group to help plan future Thank You Rallies, etc.

Stay in Touch

When you form a new chapter of Billionaires for Bush — please let us know! Its not that we don't trust you to go out and wield undue power and influence... it's just that we want the right hand to know what the other right hand is doing.

Drop a note of introduction to chaptermaster@billionairesforbush.com. After you're up and running, post descriptions and photos of your actions at www.billionairesforbush.com/blog. Use this site to find ideas and inspiration from other chapters too!

III. Organizing Billionaire Actions

This is where the rubber meets the road, or rather, the Lear Jet meets the sky.

Billionaire actions fall into three broad categories:

- A. Joining Bush-friendly events
- B. Counter-demonstrating at anti-Bush events
- C. Billionaire-Initiated events and activities

Joining Bush-Friendly Events

Here we celebrate President Bush's tireless efforts on behalf of millionaires and billionaires everywhere. There are various kinds of President-Friendly events:

- * Campaign speeches by President Bush, Dick Cheney, Karl Rove, and their henchmen
- * Republican Fundraisers
- * Press Conferences on behalf of Bush campaign or policy initiative
- * Social gatherings of the fabulously wealthy

See the end of this section for tips on how to research opportunities to hold Bush-friendly events.

Frequently the organizers of Bush-friendly events are not very pleased when Billionaires for Bush decide to participate. They seem to want to control the event, and want to suppress our message of appreciation. Perhaps they're jealous of our wealth. But all participants at all actions should adhere to our strict standards for Billionaire behavior. Remember to stay in character and on message! We are rich, and in control. (For example, if we are not on the guest list and are asked to leave, it must be because our assistant failed to RSVP for us.) Always remain extremely friendly and positive about the President. If it takes people a little while to catch on, so much the better.

A NOTE ON AUDIENCE

You should always plan your actions with a clear sense of who is your audience. At bush-friendly events, your audience will usually NOT be the people at the event. In most cases, particularly fundraisers, they have made up their minds about George Bush and your presence will probably not sway their opinion. (One possible exception is the larger rallies, where you might find some curious undecided voters in attendance.) Therefore it isn't important that you be close to the event and the people who are arriving.

You usually will have two audiences: the press (to help you reach the folks who aren't at the event) and the other protestors (who are potential billionaires). To reach the press you'll need to either contact them directly and arrange to meet them before the event, or be at the event location at least one and a half hours early in order to meet the press before they go into the event. Sometimes reporters specifically to cover the protestors, but not always. As for the protestors, even though you want to remain separate from them as much as possible to convey the idea of a counterprotest, you should make a point to talk with them about being a Billionaire (out of character is ok) and get their contact information (name, phone and email) if they seem interested so you can invite them to your next action! There is a B4B sign-up sheet in the Sample Materials section.

There are endless variations on the actions described below, but these are the basic elements of a robust Billionaire action portfolio.

Thank You Rallies This is a good entry-level activity for new Billionaires. Bring fliers and signs and stand outside event to greet people as they arrive. Be prepared to provide a good photo opportunity if the media arrives: have a banner or large sign that says Billionaires for Bush, and well-dressed Billionaires with props and signs. If this is a low-security event, this action can also be paired nicely with Guerrilla Q&A (see below) and/or a simple Infiltrate and Mingle (also below) to observe reactions on the inside and speak further with the participants.

Mix in With Real Supporters Since Billionaires are already supporters of the President, you can join in with the crowd at his campaign events. Stay together as a group, but mix in. Try to get a good location where he, the media, and others can see you. Always stay in character. If he's giving a speech, judge the mood of the crowd and the level of surveillance. Even though your chants are "positive" they can be delivered in a disruptive way. However, you may not want to be disruptive, particularly if security is tight. Often it can be more effective to just cheer super-enthusiastically ("Huzzah!") at the right moments, and have your rich costumes, and the written messages on your banners/signs/leaflets tell the other side of the story. Use your humor and positiveness to disarm others. Remember: you are the President's most important and enthusiastic special interest group.

Trojan Horse This action involves a high level of stealth and disruption. Here's one example: In 1999, several Billionaires showed up in Concord, NH as Steve Forbes announced his candidacy for President. They wore conservative jackets and ties (but no bowler hats, etc.) and carried innocuous signs such as "Run, Steve, Run." Happy to have grass-roots support, the Forbes handlers (who believed the Billionaires were students from a nearby business school) placed them in front of the cameras, very near to the podium from which Forbes was speaking. However, each of their signs had another sign behind it. And behind their banner (which read "Forbes 2000: He wants YOU to win") was another banner, waiting. At the most dramatic moment of his announcement, the Billionaires flipped their signs, and pulled away the large banner to reveal one which read: "Billionaires for Forbes: Because Inequality isn't Growing Fast Enough." The business-school students cum Billionaires started chanting "Let workers pay the tax so investors can relax!" and other slogans. Forbes and his handlers were completely thrown off, a little tussle ensued, and the Billionaires were pushed off to the side away from the cameras. Not wanting to miss the action, half the TV crews left the Forbes speech to cover the Billionaires. The action got lots of coverage.

Something to remember if you do this yourself: It only works once, so make it good. It is probably unwise to try this action with the President (no, um, sudden movements near the President, please!), but you might succeed if the spotlight is on a lower-level official, such as a member of Congress, the state legislature, or perhaps the Governor.

Guerrilla Q & A Dressed corporate, not over-the-top wealthy (YES: Suit, tie, well-groomed. NO: Bowler hat, shades, mink stoles.), and leaving all the signs behind, attend a public campaign event, Republican fundraiser, candidate breakfast, etc. Have Billionaires there, but not sitting together (or go in pairs but only one Billionaire per pair will ask a question). During the Q & A session get yourself called upon. Say something like this:

"First, I want to commend you on voting to repeal the estate tax. As a multi-millionaire, and one of the very very few Americans who will benefit from its repeal, I want to thank you personally. My question is this: How did you do it? How did you convince the American people that it was in their interest to repeal this tax when it so clearly isn't? Basically, repealing the estate tax takes $1 trillion dollars of government revenue over the next 20 years, and gives it to the richest 2% of the population. Don't get me wrong, I think it's great, but it's clearly a tough sell, since very few taxpayers benefit, and it results in so much lost revenue that undoubtedly will result in higher taxes for other Americans. How did you do it?"

Be polite, dead pan serious. Sit down when you are finished. Play it cool, as if you've done nothing out of the ordinary. Get as many of your members called upon as you can. After the first one, the Senator won't expect a second. But after the second, he might be expecting a third. So, each of your statements should be sufficiently subtle and different enough from one another that he won't know whether you are real or fake till you are all or mostly done with your question. After two of you have spoken, you might even try this approach, from someone who is dressed more Joe/Jane six pack:

"Senator, who are these people we've been hearing from today? Are they part of this group I've been reading about, I think they're called Billionaires for Tax Cuts for Billionaires? Are they a real support group? Is it true that you've accepted money from them...and that you're supporting this Estate Tax Repeal?"

Remember to bring leaflets if the participants are part of your target audience. But keep them to yourself till the Q & A is over. Find additional sample questions in Sample Materials chapter.

Infiltrate and Mingle This approach is similar to "Mix In With Supporters" but it requires a higher level of stealthiness. Since it involves one-on-one interactions with other Bush supporters, it is important for participants to have developed Billionaire personas. Typical venues would include a cocktail reception or high-dollar fundraising dinner, a house party, a meeting of the county campaign committee, or a political forum. It can be paired with other types of actions, such as Guerrilla Q&A or Thank You Rallies.

Research

Finding Bush-friendly events can require some research. If you're lucky, the President himself is coming to town and it's no secret. But sometimes the President's visits are not announced until the day of the event, probably to keep those annoying protesters away. While this secrecy can make it harder to plan an event, it can work to your advantage if you get advance information on an event that hasn't been publicly announced. If the press finds out about the event from you, they will regard you as a source of information and they're more likely to give you good press coverage, especially if you're the only group to attend the event.

Many of these events can be found online. Whitehouseforsale.org keeps a short-term but reliable schedule of President Bush's fundraising appearances, and selected upcoming Bush/Cheney campaign events are posted at www.georgewbush.com/calendar/. GOP.com keeps schedules of Republican events in your state, as do your state and local Republican web sites, which can be found easily using an internet search engine. Many of these web sites allow you to sign up to receive periodic emails about upcoming events. You can also find Bush for President events in your area at meetup.com.

The internet is handy, but off-line intelligence is sometimes the best way to find out about these events. Your Special Ops Minister will help obtain advance information of this type. Young, clean-cut Billionaires are best-suited for this role, as they can pose as students who wish to start a young Republican chapter at their school, or who are interested in going into politics but feel like they have so much to learn. Be prepared to rotate this title, as the Special Ops Minister may eventually be recognized as a Billionaire, particularly if his photo appears in a local paper or she is spotted at a pro-Bush action.

Counter-Demonstrating at Anti-Bush Events

Great hordes of middle-class Americans have been taking to the streets against President Bush. They must be stopped. When we counter-protest these protesters, we show the world that the President is backed by strong moneyed interests!

Counter-demonstrate these types of events!

- 💰 Demonstrations at Bush/Cheney '04 campaign stops (aka. Thank You Rally)
- 💰 Press Conferences announcing the launch of campaigns we oppose.
- 💰 Campaign events hosted by the Democratic party
- 💰 Anti-corporate rallies and demonstrations

This type of action is fun, provides good practice, is good for recruiting, and is oddly amusing for the folks at the event. The counter-protest can take a number of forms: a few protesters on the edge of a rally, a (planned) takeover of the stage and microphone, the odd man out on a panel discussion, etc.

Simple Counter-demonstration Show up to the opposition's event with banner, signs and leaflets. Engage in mockery of their misguided ways and shout relevant chants. Here the audience can be the participants in the event that we're counter-demonstrating, and the goal might be to recruit some of them to participate in upcoming Billionaire actions. You might have one or two Billionaires "interrupt" the rally or demonstration to give speeches. If this is your approach, you should coordinate with the event you're counter-demonstrating. And be sure that the speeches are humorous, short, and related to the topic of the rally.

Statement for Press The Press Statement can be valuable to have at events that are expected to get press coverage — whether a rally, demonstration, or press conference. If a local group is announcing the kick-off of a campaign to raise the minimum wage, for example, the Billionaires can issue a statement about the importance of keeping wages low if we are to keep profits high (see sample press releases). The Press Statement will be more effective if paired with a Counter-demonstration or Thank You Rally.

Billionaire-Initiated Events and Activities

Sometimes you will want to stage your own event. Here are some examples of activities and actions your chapter can initiate. The Billionaire concept is fertile soil for creative action-making, so your chapter might come up with actions that have never been tried before, or variations on the actions described below. Visit our Web site at www.billionairesforbush.com to read about actions held by chapters around the country, and post descriptions of your action on our action blog at www.billionairesforbush.com/blog.

Posting This is a low-intensity way to publicize our message to the voting public, and to not-yet-recruited Billionaires. Posting is easy to organize, a good way to build group cohesion, and can help build for upcoming events. Posters can be downloaded from our web site and then posted on community billboards and in other highly-trafficked public places. Remember that if there are some buildings or lamp posts in your area which are not owned by you or a fellow Billionaire (rare as that may be), you risk being fined if you post without permission, depending on local ordinances and enforcement. Consider bringing a couple wads of cash in the event your are approached by a law enforcement officer. Have your butler join the posting crew to be on the lookout for concerned citizens.

Tabling for the Dick Cheney Defense Fund Billionaires set up a table in any high-trafficked pedestrian area to proclaim Cheney is Innocent and raise funds to educate the public that Cheney did NOT oversee Enron-style accounting at Halliburton, he did NOT bribe Nigerian officials, and he did NOT break US law by doing business with nations that harbor terrorists. For leaflets, signs and props, visit www.billionairesforbush.com/cheney.php Be sure you have a sign-up sheet (see Sample Materials) to collect contact information of interested people and invite them to future events.

Diamond & Bake Sale Billionaires do their part to help pay for Bush's generous tax cuts by holding a bake sale on a busy street corner. This is a small way to show our appreciation for the sacrifices kids, (or Americans without health care, etc) will make on our behalf. Leaflets distributed to passers-by convey our message. Be sure you have a sign-up sheet (see Sample Materials) to collect contact information of interested people and invite them to future events.

B4B Campaign Events Sometimes we need to organize campaign events to highlight the pro-Billionaire policies of President Bush. Endless possibilities include awards ceremonies, $2 million per plate dinner, a speech by the chair of your local B4B chapter, country club luncheon announcing endorsement of President Bush by B4B chapter etc. You can easily turn this event into a fundraiser for your chapter.

Million Billionaire March Might be held in response to visit by Democratic hopeful — as a way to demonstrate that Billionaires won't stand idly by while plutocracy is challenged. Most effective in large cities. The big one of course is during the Republican National Convention August 29, 2004.

Rally for the Really Rich Can be used as counter-point to too much talk about the need for raising living standards — what about raising high living standards even higher?! — or other issues we oppose that are receiving too much press attention.

Billionaire Flashmobs A flashmob has been described as “an e-mail-driven performance art event in which people suddenly materialize in public places, interact with others according to a loose script and then dissipate just as suddenly as they appeared.” Billionaires can do it too. This action requires a larger number of Billionaires (ten to 20 or more, depending on location) but is a very fun way to raise the B4B profile locally. Basic idea is a bunch of Billionaires show up at a pre-determined location, overtake the place seemingly independent of one another, and act like Billionaires, i.e., talk in cell phones or to a partner about rigging the bid for contracts in Iraq, demanding a meeting with Bush next week — no later!!, offer to loan your private jet to Dick Cheney to get to his undisclosed location, boast about the latest tax loophole discovered by your accountant, etc. After the impression has been made, Billionaires all leave at once, but independently. Can be easily scheduled at your convenience, so you may want to have it just before or after another action. See www.flashmob.com for more info.

Billionaire Rampages A rampage is a cross between the more absurdist dada-ist flashmob (above) and a more traditional political march. Billionaires gather at a pre-determined location and go on a playful mob-like odyssey through the town. You might begin with a two-martini lunch at a fancy watering hole, move on to the public library to register your disbelief that public institutions are even allowed to exist, open a bottle of champagne (or sparkling apple cider to stay legal) on the steps of the local stock market or chamber of commerce, then on to 10 minutes of formal waltzing in the local bus or train station. At each location some of you could hold signs and hand out leaflets. Invite participants or the media to join you at any juncture. Designate a cell phone or hotline number to keep interested parties apprised of you current location and expected progress. Look at la.cacophony.org/santa1999.html for an example of an annual Christmas-time rampage of Santas.

Petition Drives Very adaptable to a wide variety of issues. Perhaps local Billionaires seek a special tax break for the two-Hummer household (has been brewing in Los Angeles) or the Large Yacht offshore tax haven (Florida Billionaires might need one of these). Draw up your petition, grab some clipboards, put on your finery, then go solicit signatures from the masses. This action can be conducted with just two people. It can be carried out at any crowded street corner or paired with a large Presidential campaign event where you solicit signatures from people arriving. Decisions about where and how to plan the event will be informed by your purpose, which could include any and all of the following: media attention, collecting information and recruitment, and interacting with the public. Obviously a pro-Bush event isn't a good place to recruit new Billionaires, but you may get some media attention there, especially if you issue a press statement announcing that you will kick-off of your petition drive at the pro-Bush event. A petition drive at an environmental rally, for example, would be better for recruitment.

Write Letter to Editor or Op-Ed A letter can extend the publicity you receive. Writing it in a small group can be amusing, too. You'll have greater success getting your letter published if a) the letter references a specific article published by the newspaper and either b) the letter is subtle enough to slip under the editor's irony radar or c) the letter is preceded by a statement to the letters editor explaining that the letter comes from a group that uses sarcasm to highlight how this Administration has served the interests of the very wealthy at the expense of everyday Americans. An Op-Ed piece doesn't reference a specific article but should be related to a specific topic currently receiving media attention. It is typically longer. Check with your local papers for length restrictions and other guidelines. Please boast if you get published by writing to chaptermaster@billionairesforbush.com.

Radio Interviews These are free, fun and usually fairly easy to come by. Once you develop your persona you are ready to go. Schedule the interview at a time when you can use it to publicize a specific action or event. Be humorous, avoid being preachy, and have your talking points prepared ahead of time. Confirm with your host that you'll be in character and ask what questions you should anticipate. Be sure to mention the Billionaires for Bush web site so listeners have an easy way to learn more about us and let them know about any upcoming events you have planned.

Host Campus Visit by Billionaires Spokesperson You can arrange for a visit by a member of the Billionaires Speakers Bureau by contacting us at speakers@billionairesforbush.com. Your chapter will just need to arrange for a meeting space and ensure a decent turnout of current and potential Billionaires. The visit can be a good way to announce the formation of a new B4B chapter and recruit new members to join Billionaire activities.

Vigils for Corporate Welfare Highlight need for more no-bid contracts for rebuilding (and maybe four more wars, to drum up new business!) and more tax breaks for companies that lay off workers. Local offices of Halliburton and other companies that have benefited from wartime rebuilding are especially good locations.

Thanking Taxpayers on Tax Day for "Paying more than your fair share" Can be held outside post office as people stream in to mail their returns. Call a press conference for added impact.

Auctioning off public property Hold outside a school or community center as if to raise money to pay for Bush's tax cuts or wartime spending. Valuable as a recruitment tool, a publicity stunt for passers by, or for broader publicity if you can convince the press to come.

High Tea This can be a fun way to test out your outfits and get together for fun on a sunny weekend afternoon. Host the tea in a public space with white tablecloth and real china for added interest and public profile. High Tea is less of a campaign action and more of a social event to build group cohesion and reach out to future Billionaires.

Croquet Similar to the purpose of high tea, but is more competitive and requires equipment and coordination skills. May be combined with High Tea to offer fun for everyone.

Billionaires Ball A big party for Billionaires, appropriate attire required. Good parties create a buzz and generate interest. Get a good DJ for dance music, a VJ to show footage of actions, if you have any, an awards ceremony (brief!) can provide a humorous focus, and a Billionaire Beauty Contest to reward the best-dressed and best-looking. Bootie from door cover and drink sales can help fund your B4B activities. Have a table where people can buy bumper-stickers and props (pearls, monocles, fake cigars, top hats, long gloves, feather boas, etc.) for their Billionaire outfits.

Essential Tips for Conducting Effective Actions

Media

Use the Media! Just because we own the press doesn't mean that we can take them for granted. (They need to at least give the appearance of impartiality.)

- $ Develop a press list with phone, e-mail and/or fax info for reporters likely to cover our actions.
- $ Contact these people prior to an action via a press advisory and follow-up phone call.

- $ Designate a particular Billionaire as the media contact — your Local Media Mogul — so that person develops a personal rapport with the reporters.
- $ Assign or hire someone in advance to shoot still photography for your events. You and your descendants will derive years of pleasure from sitting around the mansion and reminiscing about the days when you dressed in your finery and bought the presidency. Post the photos on our web site with a description of your action!
- $ Media advisories should indicate that the action will offer interesting photo opportunities, and describe them. Make sure to send advisories to the photo editors!
- $ Many major cities have an independent media outlet. Find yours online (www.indymedia.org) and post a report of your local action with your contact information so that other activists can find out how to join your Billionaires for Bush chapter.

Considerations for any disruption attempt

- $ Although in reality, you may be "disrupting" the event — theatrically, as Billionaires, you are always "contributing" to the event. Even in the midst of being escorted out by police, you are asking, "But why, officer, we're just here to support... There must be some misunderstanding." Stay in character.
- $ Don't just rehearse, role play the scenario. Have members of your team play the speaker, event organizers, other attendees, security, the cops, etc. Play out various ways the action could go. Get comfortable responding "like a Billionaire" and staying on message in many of the possible situations that could arise.
- $ Be sensitive to security concerns in these days of code orange alerts; don't make sudden moves in tense situations and be attuned to whether it's really a good idea that you insist you remain at any given event.

Know Your Audience

- $ Remember, we need to reach people where they are, and on issues where there's some common ground. If you're trying to reach swing voters who tend to support the war, set aside topics such as no-bid contracts for rebuilding, and the benefits of wartime weapons economics for our surging stock portfolio. Instead focus on economic issues: tax breaks for the rich, indifference toward job loss, etc.
- $ Messaging can be more aggressive at events where the audience is more in agreement with us, like on college campuses or in the blue states.

Strengthen the National Effort

- $ Help us find new Billionaires in all the Battleground states! Invite your friends to join their local chapter (complete list of chapter contacts posted at <http://www.billionairesforbush.com/blog/chapters>)
- $ We are looking for new chapter leaders in these states: OH, FL, PA, MI, WI, MN, IA, MO, AK, TN, WV, NV, NM, AZ, CO, WA, OR, NH, and ME. If you know someone who might head up a chapter, please contact chapters@billionairesforbush.com and we'll help get them started!

IV. Spinning the Issues

Billionaire Messaging Dos and Don'ts

It's fun to be a Billionaire. In fact, sometimes it's so much fun that we get carried away camping it up as an obnoxious rich person and lose track of the message we're trying to get out. We created this guide to help us all stay more on message. From years of experience, we've learned that an effective political campaign requires tight message discipline. Please review these talking points and encourage all fellow Billionaires to use them. Let's have fun AND be effective messengers.

As the campaign proceeds, the political landscape will evolve and so will our messaging strategy. These talking points will be updated periodically. Some of our messaging will also be adapted to particular states or regions. In fact, several of the one-liners below have come from local chapters. The campaign is a nation-wide collaboration. If you would like to share talking points or one-liners from your chapter, or recommend how to tailor the talking points to your state or region, please write to messaging@billionairesforbush.com.

Guiding Principles

- $ Focus on corporate takeover of the government – Corporations are hated more than rich people, CEO's more than corporations. Corporate takeover arguments resonate across the political spectrum, and constitute Billionaires' strongest message. Leave social and ideological issues behind. Corruption is a winning issue, corporate cronyism is the best cross-cutting critique of this administration. Hence we don't do much on gay marriage, reproductive rights, the moral issues behind Iraq war etc.
- $ Know our facts – It's not enough to say corporations have too much influence in government. We need figures, and we need to articulate the difference between Bush and Kerry. We need to choose a few facts and get them out in the echo chamber. Enron's Ken Lay is George Bush's biggest lifetime contributor, and gave him more money than all 16 years of Kerry's special interest money combined. EVERY American should know that. Vague generalities preach to the choir, swing voters are concerned with facts. Money in politics is old hat, we need to have hooks and punches, compelling stats.

Dos

- $ Focus on economic issues and corporate take-over of democracy – mention Enron, corporate pay offs and lobbyists as much as possible
- $ Memorize and repeat 3-5 facts – swing voters respond to facts, not slogans. Billionaires should repeatedly deliver the most damaging three facts about Bush.
- $ Repeat the name – The core slogan of Billionaires is its name, which should seek to 'hardwire' the word 'billionaire' to 'Bush'. It should be put up front and center in all materials and repeated in all communications.
- $ Be witty – wit energizes activists, engages people, and attracts media.
- $ Attack Kerry, praise Bush – it is critical to continually emphasize the difference between Kerry and Bush. Call Kerry a traitor to his class and criticize his record of "pandering to the special interests of ordinary Americans."
- $ Use irony as Trojan Horse, then step out of character – Use irony to get yourself in the door – i.e. to win the attention of the media or a voter – and then break character to explain our message in plain terms. Speaking from the heart is often a better way to reach swing voters, particularly when speaking through the press.
- $ Attend to your "visual message" – Always be mindful of how you're presenting yourself to the cameras. Everyone should be in Billionaire attire, or dressed as one of our staff (butler, chauffeur, secretary, horse trainer, etc.). Do not mix with non-billionaires. Keep the banner visible at all times - do not stand in front of it. Stick together, avoid becoming dispersed.

- $ Keep it simple and stay on message – Even if you feel you've already done that schtick 100 times. Repetition and simplicity are essential ingredients to effective messaging. Beware the overly subtle or sophisticated message. Communicate so that most people understand the satire and the message.

Don'ts

- $ DON'T break the law by telling anyone who to vote for – Billionaires is a “527 organization” which means it can express political support for Bush but cannot actually tell someone to vote one way or another. It's ridiculous, but it's the law.
- $ DON'T fall into the trap of simply playing an obnoxious rich person – the Billionaires have a political agenda which is to highlight how the Bush Presidency takes very good care of CEOs and corporate interests. It's easy to just riff on the wealthy. Take the time to prepare yourself to talk about why, as a Billionaire, you support President Bush.
- $ DON'T be condescending towards ordinary Americans. Our intent is to generate anger toward Bush – not us. Avoid language like ‘suckers,’ ‘stupid wage workers’ and ‘little people’. We lose our audience if we put ordinary voters on the defensive. Allow them to laugh with you (perhaps despite themselves) as you poke your finger in the eye of the President by playing his biggest fan.
- $ DON'T get trapped into talking about cultural issues – We don't discuss gay marriage, gun control, right-to-choose, and other cultural issues. These matters don't effect the bank accounts of Billionaires (and may turn-off many swing voters). Stick to economic issues where we're strongest.
- $ DON'T describe our opponents as liberals – It's middle class interests we're fighting, not any political ideology. At a counterdemonstration, for example, we're there to hold forth against “the great unwashed middle class masses.”
- $ DON'T make fun of the flag – This plays into the Republicans' hands.
- $ DON'T be a mock racist – To handle race in a humorous way requires a high level of artistry. Don't risk it.
- $ DON'T put down other protestors – When speaking out of character to a reporter about how B4B uses a unique approach to protest, it's important to acknowledge that we are different, but not better. In fact we often depend on the presence of more traditional protestors to serve as our foils.
- $ DON'T make Billionaires seem all powerful – We don't want to exacerbate voter apathy and resignation. Instead, we can empower our audience by expressing frustration at “setbacks” like environmental restrictions, strong clean election laws, voter registration drives, or other citizens' initiatives.

A Note on Language

We can deliver our message even more powerfully if we choose our words carefully. Below we have flagged a few ways that your choice of words can make a difference in how your message is received by your audience.

- $ Talk about how Bush favors the super rich, or the really really really rich, not just the rich. Americans like to think that they, too, will one day be rich. Being super rich seems alien and unattainable.
- $ Don't talk about capitalism; it makes you sound like a socialist to ordinary voters. Instead of capitalism, use corporate cronyism or Big Money, or Big Oil. People do have disdain for closed insider networks and corruption among CEOs.
- $ Conservatives have succeeded in linking “government spending” with “wasteful” and “inefficient” in the public's mind. When talking about the negative impact of Bush's tax cuts, talk about how it will reduce funding for public initiatives, rather than how it will result in cuts to government spending.

Talking Points

Some Good One Liners

- $ George W. Bush doesn't pander to the special interests of ordinary Americans.
- $ What do you mean, there is no diversity in the White House? – the President and the Vice President represent two different oil companies!
- $ George Bush is the best investment we Billionaires have ever had in Washington.
- $ We Billionaires continue to be there for him, because, boy, has he been there for us!
- $ Leave no child behind?? George Bush has left no billionaire behind.
- $ To those who say Big Money should be kept out of politics, I say show me where in the Constitution it calls for a separation of cash and state!
- $ There's no better business than politics. And in George Bush's America, the business of politics has been pretty damn good – for us!
- $ George understands our long term vision for a Government of, by and for the corporations—and he's making it happen!
- $ George Bush is helping to reduce our dependence on domestic labor.

Answers to Questions – In Character

Q. Who are you guys?

- $ We are Billionaires for Bush – The political action committee of CEOs, corporate lobbyists, dissolute heiresses and other winners under George Bush's economic policies.
- $ We are the CEOs who make 280 times the pay of an average worker.
- $ We are the 1% who own more than 40% of the wealth in this great land!
- $ We are the 10% who give 90% of the campaign contributions!
- $ We are the Pioneers, and Rangers, and the as yet unnamed category of
- $ fundraisers who bundle together $100,000, $200,000 and now $500,000 in
- $ contributions for George Bush's campaign coffers.
- $ We are a who's who of corporate America and we are organized!

Q. But aren't the actual billionaires against President Bush?

We all hear about a few renegade class traitors like George Soros and Warren Buffett who are against President Bush, but most of Corporate America and the really really rich are behind Bush 110%.

Q. Isn't it unusual for Billionaires to participate in street protests?

For too long we have ruled the country from behind closed limo doors. But in George Bush's America, we Billionaires can come forward without any shame. We run this country, and we do a damn good job of it.

Answers to Questions – Out of Character

Speaking from the heart can be a better way to reach swing voters. Use these talking points to convey that message.

Q. But you guys aren't really Billionaires. What's going on here?

OK, speaking as [your name], rather than [your billionaire name], let me explain. We've decided to "become" Billionaires because it's a great way to show how Bush and Cheney are way too cozy with Big Business. The humor and creativity of this approach gets people's attention because it's the joke that tells the truth: how Bush & Cheney's CEO buddies get no-bid contracts and relaxed pollution rules, while the rest of us are denied overtime pay, see our healthcare costs go up and are saddled with huge student loans.

Q. What is Billionaires for Bush?

It is a do-it-yourself campaign that uses street theater, media and a good dose of humor to flush out the truth about how the Bush administration's economic policies have been a disaster for most Americans. We have over 40 chapters nationwide. Our efforts are primarily focused on influencing voters in the key battleground states.

Q. How did Billionaires for Bush get started?

Billionaires for Bush was started last fall by a group of comedians, artists and social activists in New York City and Los Angeles.

Q. What kind of organization are you?

Billionaires for Bush is an independent 527 PAC. Which means we're not affiliated with either party and we can't tell you who to vote for, but we can sure as hell lay out the facts about, say, how Bush & Cheney invited Enron in to write the nation's energy policy, and then let you decide who to vote for.

Q. How do you get funding for the work you do?

Most of our funding comes from individual donors. We raise some money by selling bumper stickers and pins on our website and by hosting fundraisers. We don't accept any money from political candidates or their campaign committees.

Q. Why are you involved in this group? (examples)

I am active in this group because I am deeply concerned that...

- $ "...Bush's massive tax cuts to millionaires & billionaires will saddle future generations with crushing deficits and cripple our economy for years to come"
- $ "...Bush's wartime spending and no-bid reconstruction contracts are costing US taxpayers dearly, and with increasingly questionable results."
- $ "...Bush's corporate cronies dictate his environmental policies. He is gutting protections for our land, air and wildlife - all for the sake of higher profits."

Q. But the economy is starting to produce jobs now. Isn't it because of Bush's tax cuts?

Since George Bush took office, our economy has suffered a net loss of 2.8 million jobs. The legacy of the Bush tax cuts will be deficit and debt for generations to come.

Bush vs. Kerry

What every billionaire should know and repeat ad nauseum.

Bush

(short answers)

Q. Why do you support George Bush?

- $ If you're really really really really rich, like us, George W. Bush is a great investment.
- $ Never before has one man done so much for so few at the expense of so many.
- $ With George Bush, no industry lobbyist has to ask twice!

- $ He helped out big tobacco, allowed us to drill in the Alaskan wilderness, and gave us juicy no-bid defense contracts.
- $ And he topped it off with $1.1 trillion in tax cuts – just for us!
- $ George Bush is the best president money can buy.
- $ George Bush liberated our oil reserves, which were somehow trapped under other peoples' countries.

Why we love George W. Bush.

(issue by issue)

Corporate Takeover

- $ Halliburton's earnings quadrupled under the Bush Administration with the help of several no-bid reconstruction contracts in Iraq.
- $ Bush took more soft money just from Enron than John Kerry has taken from all donors in his entire 16 year career.
- $ He helped out big tobacco, allowed us to drill in Alaskan wilderness, and gave us juicy no-bid defense contracts.
- $ Vice President Dick Cheney – whom we all knew back in the days when he was CEO of Halliburton – invited energy executives and lobbyists to write the nation's energy policy.
- $ We're not worried about name callers and their charges of "corporate cronyism" – Cheney's duck-hunting pal on the Supreme Court helped ensure that the Bush Administration is allowed to keep our identities on the Energy Task Force secret until after this November's election.
- $ George was investigated for insider trading in 1991 by his father's own appointee—inconclusively, ahem, of course—so he knows from experience how we billionaires need to stick together in hard times.

Jobs

- $ He saved us a bundle in labor costs by cutting the right to overtime pay for eight million Americans.
- $ He was at the helm during an economic recovery which saw corporate profits rise but almost no new jobs were created – this is fantastic for us CEO's!
- $ Bush did cut combat pay for soldiers serving in Iraq, but we're pretty sure that none of them are Billionaires.

Health Care

- $ President Bush increased the profits of our Big Pharma companies by $139 billion by preventing Medicare from negotiating prices with them. Similarly, he let HMO's charge Medicare whatever they want.
- $ Now, he's sending out prescription drug discount cards to seniors but what's great for us is at Big Pharma is that the discounts don't kick in till 2006.
- $ The average American family is paying $2700 more in premiums than they were four years ago, which is great news for insurance companies. We are counting on President Bush to protect those profits.
- $ President Bush has already closed veterans' hospitals and proposes to double veterans' prescription drug co-payments, and his plan includes a $2.6 billion shortfall in veteran's healthcare funding. That's $2.6 billion more for our tax cuts!

Environment

- $ Bush has undone decades of terrible, anti-billionaire environmental policies and fought hard for our rights to make billions wrecking the natural world.

- $ The Clear Skies initiative was a stroke of genius – everyone is happy, people who don't breathe, and those of us whose companies benefit from the relaxed environmental regulations it brings.
- $ His energy plan has a clear preference for corporate interests over the environment – it even recommends drilling for oil in the Arctic refuge—I mean, what have those caribou done for you lately?
- $ George Bush freed us from the green jackboot of the Kyoto Protocol. Remember: global warming means better tans.

Taxes

- $ Bush taxes wages (that's how YOU make money), not wealth (how WE make money). His tax cuts to millionaires delivered savings 140 times larger than the tax relief given the average working family.
- $ He wants to make it possible for us to pass on our super huge fortunes to our little lovelies Chad and Muffy, without a dime going to public schools, build hospitals or fix roads!
- $ He gave $1.1 trillion in tax cuts to the wealthiest 1% of Americans – even in the face of a recession, state bankruptcies, and an expensive war. Now the next generation will pick up the tab!
- $ Thus, he's keeping his promise to the children of America—that when they grow up, they'll get to pay OUR taxes!
- $ In a masterful act of “creative austerity”, he shackled the federal government with such deficits that no new public initiatives will be viable for decades to come.

Kerry

(short answers)

Q. Why don't you support John Kerry? After all, he's practically a billionaire!

- $ John Kerry is a bad investment for Billionaires.
- $ Having spent his life in public service, he doesn't understand how to do business in Bush's America, for example... :
- $ Kerry refuses to appoint our lobbyists to write the laws of the nation.
- $ For 16 years John Kerry has refused to take any of our PAC money!
- $ Worst of all, he panders to the special interests of ordinary Americans.
- $ He wants us and all our really rich friends (making more than $200,000) to give up our tax cuts!
- $ George Bush has a better return on investment.

Why Billionaires Do Not Want John Kerry in the White House

(issue by issue)

Corporate Takeover

- $ That goodie two shoes Kerry is too pure for Enron's money, and for his entire 16 year career wouldn't accept PAC money at all. Now that's no way to build a strong relationship with Billionaires.
- $ He wants to spend more money on health and education, and cut back on corporate subsidies. What good does that do us?
- $ He has repeatedly voted against expensive Pentagon pork contracts that would have delivered juicy, profitable projects for us.
- $ Kerry wants America to use hydrogen energy by 2020, when we Billionaires make our living off of oil.

Jobs

- $ Kerry supports increasing the minimum wage and indexing it to inflation, but we have rather enjoyed seeing our profits increase faster than workers' compensation, and Kerry's proposal would reverse this trend.
- $ He talks too much about so-called "corporate fraud" and the problems of workers who lost their life savings because their pension was invested in the wrong company. Wrong company?? There's no such thing as a wrong company. It's not our fault those workers didn't get better investment advice.
- $ I've never had even one job, and now Kerry wants to create 10 million new jobs in the next 4 years. Whatever for?

Health Care

- $ Kerry plans to cut health care costs for working class people to $4,000 a year. But affordable health care for Americans is bad for our insurance and pharmaceutical companies.
- $ Kerry plans to use the government's buying power to force drug companies to lower prices, hurting pharmaceutical companies' bottom lines.
- $ Kerry wants the un-American re-importation of drugs from Canada, again challenging our pharmaceuticals.

Environment

- $ Some caribou-loving environmental group called League of Conservation Voters gave him a lifetime score of 96%, a pretty strong indication that he'll play favorites with the environment over our fat bottom line.
- $ He is going to take away the negotiating power that HMO's and pharmaceuticals have over Medicare, threatening our investments.

Taxes

- $ He wants to repeal tax cuts for people making more than $200,000/year, even Billionaires!
- $ He is threatening to take away our rights to off-shore corporate tax shelters.

Billionaire Chants

They pander to you, but they answer to us!
Big Money's power is marvelous!

This is what PLUTOCRACY looks like!

Take to your cell phones, take to your faxes,
Join the fight to end all taxes!

Let workers pay the tax, so investors can relax!

Big money, united, shall never be defeated!

Welfare for the wealthy!
Keep our profits healthy!

Wealth care, not health care!

Tax wages, not wealth!

Watch more Fox News,
Then you'll share our right-wing views!

Make a smart investment, buy yourself a President!

Money for war and occupation,
Not for jobs and education!

1-2-3-4, we've got billions, we want more!
5-6-7-8, cut more taxes, we can't wait!

Make war, not jobs!

What's outrageous? Living wages!
What's disgusting? Trust-busting!

What do we want? Prison labor!
How do we want it? CHEAP!

What do we want? Sweatshop labor!
How do we want it? CHEAP!

1-2-3-4, we don't care about the poor!
5-6-7-8, don't you dare tax my estate!

Four more wars! (repeat)

Blood for oil! (repeat)

Whose president? Our president!
Whose money? Our money!
Whose media? Our media!
Whose wars? Our wars!
Whose oil? Our oil!
Whose missiles? Our missiles!
Whose tax cuts? Our tax cuts!
Whose yachts? Our yachts!
etc.

1-2-3-4, we make money when there's war,
5-6-7-8, Halliburton's really great!

Bush and Cheney are the best,
Billionaires know where to invest!

Poor people, get a clue,
The USA is not for you!

Write big checks! (repeat)

We're here, we're rich, get used to it!

No justice, no problem!

We shall over-bomb...

More money, fewer hands!

We want more! Give us more!

Who are we?

Billionaires for Bush is a grassroots network of corporate lobbyists, decadent heiresses, Halliburton executives, and other winners under George W. Bush's economic policies.

Why do we love George W. Bush?

- $ He's brought us an economic recovery where we don't have to hire anybody.
- $ He let CEOs write the nation's energy policy, because no lobbyist should have to ask twice.
- $ He cut veterans' benefits, because no soldier should get paid twice.

Why do we hate John Kerry?

- $ He panders to the special interests of ordinary Americans.
- $ He'll increase our dependence on domestic labor by creating millions of jobs.
- $ He's a flip-flopper. Clean air? Clean water? Which is it, John?

Our mission?

Re-appoint George W. Bush. We know a good president when we buy one.

$$$ 50 Points: Very impressive! Provided that you're willing to sign away access to legal counsel for the rest of your natural life, we just might have room for you.

CHENEY IS INNOCENT!

Dick Cheney is the target of a vast middle-of-the-road conspiracy that includes the Government Accounting Office, the Associated Press, Judicial Watch, the nation of France, and the U.S. Attorney in Houston. He's being investigated and is under threat of indictment. This is a travesty. How can the country expect a man who resides at an undisclosed location to account for his own whereabouts? Billionaires must not stand idly while our friend is hounded by such shameless truth seekers. Below is a response to the various accusations that will dispel any doubts about the Vice President's integrity.

Enron-Style Accounting at Halliburton

The Accusation: When Cheney was at the helm of Halliburton, the company improperly changed the way it calculated profits, adding $89 million in revenues to its books. The company recently paid $7.5 million to settle a lawsuit brought against it by the Securities Exchange Commission (SEC) for these accounting maneuvers. Now four former finance employees at Halliburton contend that high-level and systemic accounting fraud occurred at the company during Cheney's leadership that goes far beyond that outlined by the SEC in its civil suit.

Our Defense:

- $ The Bush administration has put only one Enron executive behind bars—so how bad can accounting fraud really be?

Nigerian Bribery Scandal

The Accusations: During Dick Cheney's tenure as Halliburton CEO in the late 1990s, $180 million in allegedly illegal payments were made to Nigerian officials by a consortium of companies, including Halliburton's wholly-owned subsidiary Kellogg, Brown & Root, in connection with the construction of an excellent natural-gas plant in Nigeria.

Our Defense:

- $ Why can't we bribe Nigerian officials to win huge government contracts when we do it at home all the time?
- $ Who wasn't taken in by that e-mail spam?

U.S. Secret Energy Task Force Meetings

The Accusation: In early 2001, Dick Cheney met in secret with a large number of energy lobbyists, including executives from Enron, to formulate the nation's energy policy. The fight to keep these meetings and 13,500 pages of documents secret made it to the Supreme Court, where a ruling by Cheney's good chum Justice Scalia conveniently delayed the decision until after the election.

Our Defense:

- $ It's not a secret meeting if everyone knows about it.
- $ 13,500 pages of documents is a lot of pages of documents.

Doing Business in Iran, Iraq and Libya

The Accusation: Under Cheney, Halliburton did business with terrorist sponsors Iran, Iraq and Libya, despite strict US sanctions prohibiting business with these countries. Charges include the claim that Halliburton, through a subsidiary, did $73 million in business with Iraq. The Treasury Department has referred the case to the U.S. Attorney in Houston.

Our Defense:

- $ He did not have financial intercourse with that rogue state.

Coordinating No-Bid Contracts

The Accusation: According to an Army Corps of Engineers email, the decision to award a no-bid contract worth up to $7 billion to a Halliburton subsidiary was “coordinated” with Cheney’s office.

Our Defense:

- $ Who’s a judge going to believe, the Army Corps of Engineers?

Supreme Court Cronyism

The Accusation: It was inappropriate for Dick Cheney to loan the use of Air Force Two to Supreme Court Justice Antonin Scalia while Scalia was presiding over a case titled Sierra Club et. al. v. Cheney. Also, public trust was undermined when Cheney spent three days together with Justice Scalia hunting ducks on the estate of an oil industry executive.

Our Defense:

- $ Who hasn’t lent their jet to a friend in need?
- $ The media pundits just wanted an excuse to call an incident Waterfowl-Gate.

Draft Dodger

The Accusation: Dick Cheney showed cowardice and skirted his patriotic duties when he requested and received five deferments to escape the draft in Vietnam before becoming one of the most vocal and ardent war proponents in the White House. He explained, “I had other priorities.”

Our Defense:

- $ Cheney more than made up for dodging the draft by starting a whole war in Iraq.

“Billionaires for Bush” to Hold Nationwide “Cheney Is Innocent” Vigils and Launch the Dick Cheney Defense Fund

Nationwide Day of Action set for Saturday, August 14th, 2004

New York, NY, August 13th, 2004 — Billionaires for Bush (B4B), activists for the corporate elite, have declared August 14th “Defend Dick Cheney Day.” The Billionaires’ are appalled by the vast, middle-of-the-road conspiracy against Cheney that includes the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), the Government Accountability Office (GAO), the Associated Press, Judicial Watch, the nation of France, and the U.S. Attorney in Houston. Dressed in their signature tuxedos, top-hats, gowns and tiaras, Billionaires will gather in cities nationwide on Saturday, August 14 to launch the Dick Cheney Defense Fund and hold “Cheney is Innocent!” vigils.

The SEC’s lawsuit against Halliburton for improperly inflating profit figures during Cheney’s watch was recently settled for $7.5 million. But this issue won’t die easily. Four former Halliburton finance employees now contend that high-level and systematic accounting fraud occurred during Cheney’s leadership that goes far beyond the improper activities cited in the SEC lawsuit.

The Billionaires are prepared to defend Cheney against a long list of accusations, including: overseeing Enron-style accounting at Halliburton, the secret energy task force, Supreme Court cronyism, arranging no-bid contracts, dodging the draft repeatedly, bribery of Nigerian officials, and doing business with Iran, Iraq and Libya.

In Washington DC, the Billionaires will stage a “Cheney is Innocent” Vigil at 1pm at the Vice President’s home (the Naval Observatory, corner of Mass. Ave. and Observatory Ct. NW) and then retire to an undisclosed location. The Washington DC action will be emulated at landmarks in cities nationwide, including Orlando, Toledo, Phoenix, Scranton, Madison, Cleveland, South Palm Beach County and New York.

“Cheney might have been at the helm while Halliburton engaged in some creative accounting techniques, but the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) didn’t have to make a big lawsuit about it,” said Ivan Tital, Chair of the B4B chapter in Washington, DC.

“We at Billionaires for Bush will not stand idly by while our good friend is hounded by such shameless truth seekers,” vows Iona Bigga Yacht, Director of Field Operations for Billionaires for Bush.

About Billionaires for Bush

Billionaires for Bush is a do-it-yourself street theater and media campaign using humor to expose how Bush administration economic policies have favored the corporate elite at the expense of everyday Americans. # Legislation: A Lucrative Investment!

Attention All Billionaires:

If you're like most of us, you're always looking for higher returns on your investments. And while you may be familiar with stocks and bonds, currency speculation, IPOs, and all the rest, there's a new investment arena you really ought to be aware of: Legislation.

If a mutual fund returns 20% a year, that's considered unbelievably good. But in the low-risk, high return world of legislation, a 20% return is positively lousy. Why, there's no reason why your investment dollar can't return 60,000, 70,000, even 80,000%!

Here's how it works: With the help of a professional legislation broker (called a Lobbyist), you place your investment (called a Campaign Contribution) with a carefully selected list of legislation manufacturers (called Members of Congress). These manufacturers then go to work writing legislation: crafting industry-specific subsidies, inserting tax breaks into the tax code, extending patents, or giving away public property for free. In an assembly-line process that would make Henry Ford proud, the legislation is produced, and you (and your favorite industry) reap the benefits! The effect on your bottom line is immediate and huge. Just check out these results:

Contributor (Investor)	Campaign Contributions (Investment)	Legislation or Administrative Action	Date	Payoff in government contracts, reduced costs, higher prices for consumers, or shift in tax burden	Return on Investment	Source

Billionaires for Bush

(to the tune of "The Caissons Go Rolling Along" by E. Gruber)

We're so rich that it's zany
Billionaires for Bush and Cheney.
We can give you the stars and the moon.
When we pay campaign debts
It's a way to hedge our bets
That the winner will dance to our tune,

Sing hey hey hey
Buy a candidate today
And he'll become your buddy
through and through.
Sing ho ho ho
If he's desperate for your dough,
He will do what you tell him to do!

We've got life by the tush,
We're the Billionaires for Bush,
We're determined to keep it that way.
Though there's money to burn
We expect things in return
And we get what we want when we pay!

Sing hey hey hey
Buy a candidate today
And he'll become your buddy
through and through.
Sing ho ho ho
If he's desperate for your dough,
He will do what you tell him to do!

We will sing! We will cheer!
Billionaires for Bush are here!
Politicians start making a fuss.
Let them bow, let them scrape,
Let them peel us all a grape
The election is paid for by us!

Let them bow, let them scrape,
Let them peel us all a grape
The election is paid for
by us!

*Lyrics by Felonius Ax
(aka Clifford J. Tasner)*

Georgie Made The Size Of My Wallet Grow

(to the tune of "Joshua Fit The Battle of Jericho")

Chorus:

Georgie made the size of my wallet grow.
He fed the flow with lots of dough.
Suddenly we're lovin' the status quo,
Now that George Bush runs this town!

He's givin' us a reason to celebrate.
He's fillin' us with pride.
The gulf between the workers and billionaires has never been so wide!

(Chorus)

Oh Georgie is a champion of policies
That benefit the top one per-cent.
And when it's time for funding the safety net,
Aw, the budget's all been spent!

(Chorus)

We were wealthy in the time of Reagan.
We were wealthy with Georgie's dad.
But save your cheers for the last four years.
They're the best we've ever had!

(Chorus)

He's concentrating all of our money.
And those tax cuts were a plus.
He keeps selling his ass for the upper class.
Yes he's truly one of us!

(Chorus)

Million Billionaire March Speech

Billionaires, chums, and far-flung colleagues of inordinate wealth.

Today is a great day!

Some of us have come by yacht, some by limo, some by Lear Jet — but in spite of these differences, we've all come today for the Million Billionaire March! Welcome, one and all.

"There are two Americas," white-trash pretty-boy John Edwards tells us. And, actually, he's right—there ARE two Americas. We're one—and we own the other. And with George Bush's help, we aim to keep it that way.

Why do we Billionaires love George Bush? Let me count the ways:

- He's brought us an economic recovery—where we don't have to hire anybody.
- He liberated OUR oil reserves, which were somehow trapped under other people's countries.
- And he freed us from the green jackboot of the Kyoto Protocol.

Let's admit it. We're a special interest — but we're a very very very very special interest! — and GWB has invited our CEO's and lobbyists into the White House to write the nations laws, from the tax cuts — which we're mostly for us! — on down.

But all of this is threatened by John Kerry and the great unwashed Democratic middle class masses which have come to Boston for this supposed "Convention."

Why do we Billionaires hate John Kerry? Let me count the ways:

- John Kerry panders to the special interests of everyday Americans.
- John Kerry promises to reduce the Federal deficit. But we say: Enron declared Chapter 11 bankruptcy, why can't the Government?
- John Kerry wants to make a first-class education the right of even second class citizens. But why throw good money at bad people?
- John Kerry plans to create 10 million jobs in his first 4 years. 10 million jobs? Whatever for? We billionaires have never even had one!
- John Kerry wants to reign in the rising cost of health insurance. But we say : 44 million un-insured Americans — that's a good start!

So, who do we Billionaires hate? And who do we Billionaires love?

As you know, I'm Phil. Phil T. Rich — but then again, who here isn't?

I'm the CEO and Schmoozer-in-Chief of Billionaires for Bush.

We're a grass-roots network of decadent heiresses, deal-making CEO's, corporate lobbyists, and other winners under George Bush's economic regime.

And this is our hour. This is our moment.

For too long we have ruled this country from behind closed limo doors. But under George Bush, we don't have to hide anymore. We can come out and show the true face of power – MONEY!. We have nothing to be ashamed of. We run this country — and we do a damn good job of it!

All the others have come out—the blacks, the women, the gays, even the mothers—and today, it's time for us to come out too And show the world who we REALLY are.

We are the Billionaires for Bush.

We are the CEOs who make 280 times the pay of an average worker.

We are the 1% who own more than 40% of the wealth.

We are a who's who of corporate America and we are organized!

We are the Billionaires for Bush.

And we are on a mission—a mission to re-appoint George Walker Bush as President of the United States of America.

George Bush has been there for the wealthy and powerful these last four years, and we're going to be there for him!

And to demonstrate our commitment, we're delivering this check [points at huge check] to the GOP headquarters right here. A check for "Whatever it takes!"

And to those champions of campaign finance reform, like John Kerry, who say that Big Money has no role in politics, I say: show me where in the Constitution it calls for a separation of cash and state.

And I say: "Buy your own President!"

Let us now present the check.

Thank you.

Billionaire Estate Tax Speech

The biggest problem with the Estate Tax is that it only affects those of us with Estates. How unfair is that?
[crowd: Not fair!]

And not just any Estate. It's got to be a really really really really big Estate. Like ours. It's got to be over $3.5 million per individual. We're not talking family farms here, we're not talking Mom and Pop small businesses here. Oh, no. The Estate Tax doesn't tax them at all. It only taxes us — the really rich. How unfair is that? [crowd: Not fair!]

In fact, there's only [24 / number in your State] of us here in [Maine / your state] who have Estate's that are actually big enough to get taxed. That's right — only 24. And I'm proud to see that most of us elite citizens are here today. The rest of you [gesturing to onlookers], you little people, you Jerry Springer fans, don't pay a dime. How unfair is that? [crowd: Not fair!]

These Estate Tax supporters think that just because we have millions and millions and millions of dollars, that we should be taxed. They think that the richest 24 people in the state should be taxed and the money given to everybody else. For what? Schools? Libraries? Roads? Day care? Pssshaw! We don't need any of that! Schools? Our kids go to private school! Libraries? We have our own personal libraries. Roads? Can you say Lear Jet? Day care? Hire an au paire!

We say shut down the day care centers. [crowd: "Yeay!"]
Fire some teachers. [crowd: "Yeay!"]
Cut back the library's hours. [crowd: "Yeay!"]
Let the bridges crumble, let the roads fill with pot-holes. [crowd: "Yeay!"]
And, let us keep our unearned fortunes -- every last penny. [crowd: "Yeay!!!!"]

So let me recap: If you have a really really really really big Estate, you get taxed by the Estate Tax. If you DON'T have a really really really really big Estate, you don't get taxed. Instead, you get MONEY from the Government. This is SO NOT fair. We must repeal the Estate Tax!

And that is why we have gathered here today. To thank [Senator X] for his vote to repeal the Estate Tax. [Senator X]: you've always been our man in Washington, but today we are particularly grateful to you: you've really stuck your neck out for us on this one. You know that the Estate Tax means money in the bank for [99.8% / percentage in your state] of your constituents, and yet you still vote to repeal. Only a true risk taker like yourself, a man willing to play Russian roulette with his political future, could come out for us on this one. Thank you [Senator X].

Only a man who stands up in defense of the tiniest of minorities, who carefully listens to the concerns of his largest campaign contributors, who is not swayed by simple consideration of the actual interests of the vast majority of his constituents, could vote to repeal the Estate Tax. Some might call this arrogant, even craven. But we know it by another name: courage. To rise above the interests of your own constituents, to listen only to your own conscience -- and maybe also to the consciences of your largest campaign contributors — and to act accordingly. Is this not true political courage?

And so, [Senator X], today we thank you for your bold and courageous support for Estate Tax repeal and the concerns of the very very very very rich. Thank you.

Now, together, let us solemnly repeat our pledge of democracy:
Never have so few given so much [crowd repeats]
(money) [crowd repeats]
to so few to get so much more [crowd repeats]
(money) [crowd repeats]

I pledge allegiance to the CEO's of the United States of America, but not to the middle class, upon whom they stand. Two nations, under George Bush, divided by income and influence, with liberty and justice just for us.

HANDS OFF HALLIBURTON!

- In January, 2004, the Defense Department's top auditor requested the Pentagon open a formal investigation into allegations surrounding Halliburton Co.'s (HAL) fuel pricing in Kuwait.
- During the same month, the Pentagon forced Halliburton to pay $6.3 million after two of its employees took kickbacks from a Kuwaiti subcontractor who was providing services to American troops in Kuwait.
- Now the Pentagon is at it again, forcing Halliburton to pay another $27.4 million for overcharging the government for meals to U.S. troops at five bases in Iraq and Kuwait. Pentagon auditors are meanwhile reviewing another 53 U.S. bases with dining facilities operated by the company.

This harassment is outrageous. While America continues to make great sacrifices to bring freedom to Iraqi oil, it will not stand to see the freedoms stripped from its own corporate citizens. We demand the immediate return of $33.7 million to Halliburton and the immediate termination of Halliburton's auditors and ALL auditors from the Defense Department. No more audits, no more pressure!

Sample Questions for Republican Speakers

Estate Tax

"First, I want to commend you on voting to repeal the estate tax. As a multi-millionaire, and one of the very very few Americans who will benefit from it's repeal, I want to thank you personally. My question is this: How did you do it? How did you convince the American people that it was in their interest to repeal this tax when it so clearly isn't? Basically, repealing the estate tax takes $1 trillion dollars of government revenue over the next 20 years, and gives it to us, the richest 2% of the population. Don't get me wrong, I think it's absolutely fabulous, but it's clearly a tough sell, since very few taxpayers benefit, and it results in so much lost revenue that undoubtedly will result in higher taxes for other Americans. How did you do it?"

Elite Privilege, Dodging Draft

"Mr. Speaker, I'm a patriotic American, and I support the President wholeheartedly. And even if all the rumors are true—that President Bush was a Vietnam War Draft Dodger, that he went AWOL from the Texas Air National Guard in 1972, that his father intervened on his behalf, and all that — I still support the President. After all, I'm a rich kid, and I know that folks like us don't belong on the battlefield in harm's way. But what about the rest of Americans who think that everyone should share the burdens of expanding our empire across the world? In your experience, what's the best way to explain it to them?"

Shortchanging the Troops

"Mr. Speaker, I'm a patriotic American, and I support the President wholeheartedly. The genius of George Bush is that even in a time of sacrifice and war and national peril, we can also have massive tax cuts. Most of that money is going to go to wealthy folks like me and my dad, but we're going to buy a lot of yachts and stretch Humvees to help the economy, so it's alright. But here's my concern. The President has cut combat pay in half, pushed 164,000 veterans off of health care, and cut military housing by $1.5 billion, so I'm wondering how long we'll have to wait to get more tax breaks? Seriously, where's that money going if not to billionaires like us?"

Privatizing Social Security

"Mr. Speaker, first want to thank you for all you've done to bring economic relief to folks like me with nine-figure salaries. Only a few years ago we were straddled with all sorts of taxes, which went to pay for education and healthcare for poor people instead of conquering oil-producing nations. Only a few years ago the law forbade us to pass down our full fortunes to our children. We had to live with the shame that they would enter the world as mere multi-millionaires instead of billionaires like us. The President and the Republicans in congress have done an admiral job addressing our concerns on these and other matters. But I'm afraid something got lost in the mix, and that's privatizing social security. Wall street investment banks, including mine, have been getting slammed with billions in fines for helping companies like Enron and Global Crossing cheat their shareholders and employees. So right now we could really use that huge windfall that you promised us when the huge social security trust fund gets thrown into the stock market. So tell me, when do you plan to make good on this promise?"

The Four Question Recruitment Rap

[Billionaire approaches Republican at event. Fancy leather/silver clipboard/folder in hand with simple checklist of Four Questions]

Hi, excuse me Ma'am/Sir. My name is _____ and I'm with Billionaires for Bush.

1. Are you a Bush supporter? Do you plan to vote for the president in the elections this fall?

Excellent. Of course, so am I. So we're recruiting for Billionaires for Bush this evening. I wanted to ask you:

2. Do you feel, as we do, that the president is doing a good job on the economy?

Great, and...

3. Do you support the president's brilliant tax cut packages, the ones that delivered 40% of the benefits to the top one percent of taxpayers?

Excellent, we love the tax cuts too.

- or- if they hesitate, or aren't so sure they like those tax cuts:

Well, I know it's a complex issue, but we think very highly of these tax breaks.

So like I said, I'm with Billionaires for Bush and we're recruiting new members. Now we also accept multi-millionaire into our ranks, so I need to ask you

4. Is your net worth in the seven to ten figure range?

No? (seeming very puzzled) Well that's strange... I mean, I'm glad you're supporting the president, but you and most other taxpayers didn't get much from these tax packages (and Bush's policies have made it harder for states to pay for basic public services like education and police). But I'm so glad that you're supporting our president regardless.... Please take a flyer just in case you get lucky and marry into wealth. And thank you for paying more than your fair share.

**$ $ $ $

Rap Tips:

- $ Stay in character, as positive, Bush-supporting billionaires.
- $ Speak clearly but keep a good pace so they don't get impatient.
- $ Our goal is to underscore the fact that Bush has helped the wealthy (that's us) but done little for working folks, except reduce funding available for education, police etc.
- $ We do this by showing our confusion (and delight) when we find out there are Bush supporters who are neither billionaires nor, even, millionaires.
- $ Once we do this, hand them a flier and move on to the next person. There is no need to engage in debate.

VI. History and Incorporation of Billionaires for Bush

Billionaires for Bush (<http://www.billionairesforbush.com>) is a grass-roots street theater and media campaign using humor to show how the Bush administration has favored the corporate elite at the expense of everyday Americans.

B4B was founded in the fall of 2003 by a network of artists and activists in New York and Los Angeles. Employing a viral, Do-It-Yourself organizing model, we has expanded to over 75 chapters and scored impressive national media attention.
