HANDS OFF HALLIBURTON!

- In January, 2004, the Defense Department's top auditor requested the Pentagon open a formal investigation into allegations surrounding Halliburton Co.'s (HAL) fuel pricing in Kuwait.
- During the same month, the Pentagon forced Halliburton to pay $6.3 million after two of its employees took kickbacks from a Kuwaiti subcontractor who was providing services to American troops in Kuwait.
- Now the Pentagon is at it again, forcing Halliburton to pay another $27.4 million for overcharging the government for meals to U.S. troops at five bases in Iraq and Kuwait. Pentagon auditors are meanwhile reviewing another 53 U.S. bases with dining facilities operated by the company.

This harassment is outrageous. While America continues to make great sacrifices to bring freedom to Iraqi oil, it will not stand to see the freedoms stripped from its own corporate citizens. We demand the immediate return of $33.7 million to Halliburton and the immediate termination of Halliburton's auditors and ALL auditors from the Defense Department. No more audits, no more pressure!
